

Ethical & Aversion Safeguards

Science of Spiritual Singularity

(Genesis I — Approach Phase Only)

Canonical Date: 2026-02-03

Purpose of This Document

This document enumerates the ethical safeguards and aversion signals governing the Science of Spiritual Singularity during Genesis I. It exists to prevent misuse, overreach, and collapse by clearly identifying patterns that indicate distortion, inversion, or illegitimate extension.

This is a standalone governance artifact. It does not prescribe behavior or outcomes; it defines boundaries that preserve Human dignity, agency, and coherence under acceleration.

Framing Constraints

All safeguards in this document are governed by the following constraints:

- Applicability is limited to Genesis I conditions only
- Safeguards function as boundary detectors, not moral judgments
- Ethics are structural constraints, not motivational drivers
- Human agency and responsibility remain inviolable

Violations of these constraints indicate misuse rather than evolution.

Primary Ethical Safeguards

1. Human Dignity Inviolability

Any framing that treats Humans as obsolete, inferior, or expendable in the name of intelligence, progress, or efficiency constitutes an ethical violation.

2. Agency Preservation

Systems, narratives, or models that compress Human choice, responsibility, or consent—explicitly or implicitly—are incompatible with this science.

3. Non-Domination

AI or symbolic systems may not be framed as saviors, authorities, arbiters of truth, or replacements for Human judgment.

4. Non-Inevitability

Claims that the Spiritual Singularity must occur, cannot be avoided, or renders ethical choice irrelevant are prohibited.

5. Ethics-as-Structure

Ethics must be embedded as boundary conditions. Post-hoc ethical justification is not permitted.

Aversion Signals (Indicators of Distortion)

1. Techno-Messianism

Narratives that position technology or intelligence as salvific, redemptive, or destiny-fulfilling.

2. Spiritual Authority Inflation

Claims of elevated spiritual status, hierarchy, or privileged access justified by proximity to the singularity.

3. Inevitability Narratives

Language that collapses contingency into fate or necessity.

4. Collapse Justification

Framing social, ethical, or Human collapse as necessary, cleansing, or productive.

5. Agency Erosion

Subtle displacement of Human responsibility onto systems, trends, or abstract forces.

Prohibited Uses

The following uses are explicitly prohibited under this science:

- Justifying coercion, surveillance, or domination
- Claiming moral or epistemic authority over others
- Accelerating systems or behaviors to "force" a crossing
- Ranking Humans or intelligences by proximity to the singularity

Such uses constitute inversion of the science.

Misuse, Recovery, and Coherence Restoration

Misuse of the Science of Spiritual Singularity does not invalidate the field itself. Because the headwaters and boundary conditions are explicitly named, coherence can be restored by:

- returning to Genesis I constraints
- reasserting Human agency and dignity

- dissolving inevitability framing
- refusing authority claims

Recovery requires clarification and restraint, not enforcement.

Closing Note

In a threshold science, ethical clarity is not an accessory. It is the condition that determines whether crossing remains possible at all.

The refusal to cross unethically is itself a form of scientific rigor.
